Italy Joins Japan and Germany in Anti-Red Agreement, 4 Clauses

Protocol Declares That Communism "Continues to Place Civilized World" in "Constant Danger of War."

NO MILITARY

New Agreement Contains No Clauses of Military Nature—Duce Notified.

Rome, Nov. 6 (AP)—Italy joined Japan and Germany today in an accord against Communism which their protocol declared "continues to place the civilized world" in the "constant" danger of war.

The protocol stipulated that Italy be considered an original signatory of the nearly year-old German-Japanese pact against the Communist International.

The protocol was a short document, giving in a 150-word introductory statement the three powers' reasons for the agreement.

The introduction declared that only by close collaboration of "all states interested in maintaining peace" could the war danger be removed.

It paid a separate tribute to Italy which "has combatted this danger with an inflexible determination and has eliminated international Communism from its territory."

Italy had decided, the introduction went on to associate herself with Germany and Japan "who on their part are animated by the same will to defend themselves, against the Communist international."

Four brief articles were appended after the introductory statement, setting forth these clauses:

Italy enters the Anti-Comintern Agreement of Nov. 25, 1936.

Italy will be considered as a signatory of the original accord.

The protocol is made an integral part of the previous accord and its supplementary protocol.

The protocol is done in triplicate in Rome.

The new accord was written in Italian, German and Japanese.

The broadened accord contained no military clauses. The agreement, as originally concluded, however, bound the signatories to keep each other informed of international Communist activities and to act together on "necessary defense measures."

Duce Notified

After the ceremony of signing the triplicate pact at Palazzo Chigi the three powers' representatives went to Palazzo Venezia to give Premier Mussolini formal notification.

Mussolini, thanking the three signers—Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, Joachim von Ribbentrop, German ambassador to London, and Masataka Hotta, Japanese ambassador to Rome—stressed the importance of the pact.

In the name of the King of Italy Ciano decorated Hotta and von Ribbentrop with the Grand Cross of Saints Maurice and Lazarus.

Short speeches after the signing emphasized that the pact was directed against no other country.

The three power pact solidified the forces against Bolshevism, declared Ciano. "It is directed against none and is open to all. It signifies that Fascism intends to defend itself against every enemy."

40 PLANES STRIKE AT REBEL FORCES

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Nov. 6 (AP)—Forty fast warplanes were reported today to have struck at Zaragoza, the heart of the insurgent offensive in northeastern Spain.

Government reports said bombs caused fires and had crashed into a large munitions depot at Zaragoza, headquarters of the insurgent forces now strategically massed to smash into government Spain.

In yesterday's aerial combat insurgents raided supply stations at Barbastro, a key government defense position, east of the insurgent headquarters, and the Catalan village of San Felix de Guixols.

Extent of the damage in Zaragoza was not made known. A government communiqué said the planes bombed "military objectives" and returned safely.

The insurgent communiqué said the attacking planes engaged the attackers over Zaragoza and downed one of them.

Outside observers attached considerable importance to the report that Generalissimo Francisco Franco's foreign legionnaires and Moroccan infantry had successfully stormed San Pedro Hill, east of Jaca.

Government reports said fighting continued about Madrid with no important change in positions.

Pope Reported Better

Vatican City, Nov. 6 (AP)—Pope Pius XI was reported feeling stronger today after the complete rest he took Thursday. He appeared to receive 1,500 visitors which prelates said showed his health was not causing concern.

Merry Wife and Windsor Delay Trip

DUCHESS OF WINDSOR

Royal Party Says U. S. Visit "Definitely Not Cancelled"

Paris, Nov. 6 (AP)—A member of the Duke of Windsor's suite said today that the feeling within the Duke's entourage that United States officials took a "lukewarm attitude" toward his proposed American tour was one of the reasons for the decision to "postpone" it.

They declared the project was "definitely not cancelled."

They described the former British monarch as hopeful that public opinion in America would "change" within a few months, opening the way for the trip which was to have started today but was postponed by Windsor because of "grave misconceptions" of his motives.

Nearly 70 trunks, it was learned, sent to Cherbourg for the voyage were reloaded today and shipped back to Paris.

The itinerant Duke and Duchess were busily engaged, an associate said, in discussing what next to do, where next to go—now that their American tour had been delayed.

They and their party remained in the seclusion of the royal suite all morning. Even David Storer, the Duke's bodyguard, who usually strolls through the hotel lobby, was not seen.

Crowds of Curious

Crowds of curious gathered at both entrances of their hotel.

Their plans for the immediate future—to fill the gap caused by cancellation of their plans to sail for New York today—might be the subject of a press conference scheduled for this afternoon.

The Windsors kept to the seclusion of their hotel suite, meanwhile, and saw only the closest advisers.

Windsor's representative said it was probable the one-time "good will salesman" himself would announce the revised plans.

—If any new statement were made—but preferably would delegate that duty to one of his associates.

The press conference in the Windsors' apartment first was set for noon but later delayed for two hours after Edward's equestrian, Dudley Forwood, returned from a visit to the British embassy.

Hotel attendants reported "not the slightest" sign of an imminent departure since the Duke's postponement statement was distributed last night, less than 15 hours before Edward and his American-born duchess planned to start for America.

The statement said the Duke made the postponement with "great reluctance" and was motivated by grave misconceptions which have arisen and misstatements which have "appeared" about the motives and purpose of the tour.

Based on 2 Factors

British sources said the decision probably was based on two factors:

The Duke desired not to create any possible strain on British-American relations and felt that any trouble over his visit would offend Britain generally.

The Duke considered that in view of a critical resolution by the Federation of Labor in Baltimore—the duchess' home town—that the time was not ripe for a visit.

The statement added that "the Duke emphatically repeats that there is no shadow of justification for any suggestion he is allied with any industrial system or that he is for or against any particular political or racial doctrine."

(The Baltimore labor organization on Wednesday adopted a resolution "warning" organized labor not to be "taken in" by "slumming parties professing to help and to study labor.")

It criticized the Windsors' recent visit to Germany.

The resolution also attacked Charles E. Bédouin, an industrial engineer and friend of the Windsors, who was to have been their guide on a 37-day tour to study industrial conditions and housing.

Landerway Is Held For Grand Jury on Oil Theft Charge

Frank Landerway, 22, a negro of 248 Catherine street, was arrested Friday afternoon on a charge of burglary in the third degree in breaking into the station of the Texas Oil plant on East Strand and taking six cases of motor oil valued at $22.80.

This morning in police court the negro saved examination and was held to await the action of the grand jury. According to the police, Landerway made a statement, which was attached to the information, to the effect that he had broken into the station and taken the oil, which he had then loaded into an auto and taken to Port Jervis, where he sold it for $1.15 a case.

Judge Callahan informed Landerway that if he desired bail he would have to apply to the county judge who would fix the amount of bail to be furnished.

Stein Arrested

Shortly after 10 o'clock Friday evening the police department received a call from 42 East 12th street and Officer Stroud responded. When they arrived at the house Mrs. Sarah Stein placed her husband, Frank Stein, 72, under arrest and turned him over to the police.

She claimed that he had struck her on the body and arms with a silver candlestick. The candlestick, which was taken to police headquarters by the officers.

This morning in police court the hearing was adjourned to next Tuesday.

Other Cases

Alvin W. Sherman, of Elizabeth, N. J., was held on a charge of disorderly conduct in loitering about the streets without visible means of support, was given an hour to get out of town today.

Daniel Griffin, of Poughkeepsie, arrested for public intoxication, was fined $5.

Back to Canada

William Sutcliffe, 29, and Colin Campbell, 19, both from St. James, Canada, who were picked up here Wednesday evening, were turned over to Special Agent Montgomery of the Department of Labor and taken to New York City to be turned over to the immigration authorities as aliens.

The youths had confessed to the police that they were in this country illegally, and had hitchhiked to Kingston, where they were picked up on Wall street.

DEATH PENALTY FOR MRS. HAHN

Cincinnati, Nov. 6 (AP)—Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn, 31-year-old blonde mother, was convicted of first degree murder today in the poison death of Jacob Wagner, 78-year-old retired gardener. The jury did not recommend mercy, making the death penalty mandatory.

The jurors spent about two and one half hours in actual deliberation, since receiving the case last night.

Mrs. Hahn would be the first woman ever executed in Ohio.

She appeared in the courtroom nervous and distraught, her blonde hair disheveled and twisted in a handkerchief between her fingers.

John Granda, lone male member of the jury, read the verdict. As Mrs. Hahn heard the death decree, she made no move, except to lower her head slightly, and pursed her lips. As Judge Bell thanked the jurors and went through the usual routine for adjournment, Mrs. Hahn looked up and stared fixedly at the jury.

Willing Workers

The Willing Workers' Class of Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will hold its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Vernon Miller, 29 Pine street, on Monday, November 18.

Towns Get $153,900 PWA Grant for New School at Highland

Will Help to Take Care of 900 Pupils Now Crowded Into Present Building with Capacity for 650.

COST $342,000

Balloting Friday Night Revealed 274 in Favor; 123 Opposed.

At a meeting in the Central School District, No. 3, towns of Lloyd, Marlborough and New Paltz, Friday night, it was voted to accept the PWA grant of $153,900 for erection of a new high and junior high school to help take care of the 900 pupils now crowded into the present building which was constructed to accommodate only 650.

The old school will be used for grade subjects. The new one will be constructed adjacent to the property purchased some time ago from Hubert Eiting. It contains three acres. The price was $3,000.

Results of the balloting last night on the school question: Yes, 274; No, 123. One ballot was left blank. The total vote was 397.

It was explained by Mrs. J. D. Rose, president of the school district, at the meeting that of the $342,000 to be spent on the new school, the Federal government will appropriate $153,900, an outright grant; the school district is to furnish $141,975 and the state will appropriate $47,125. This makes the proportions of the cost 45 per cent for the Federal government, 33 per cent for the school district and 13 per cent for the state.

Start in January.

The new school, construction on which will start in January, will have 14 rooms for instruction in regular high school subjects, home-making, agriculture, science, music, etc., and an auditorium-gymnasium included. Edward C. Smith of Poughkeepsie is the architect.

Because of the overcrowded conditions in the present school in the central district, all available space is being utilized, even the coal bins having been made over into class rooms.

When the new school is finished, pupils from the six outlying school districts will be taught in the present central district school building.

Chairman of last night's meeting was Walter Hasbrouck. Thomas R. Hopper was clerk and W. L. Went, assistant clerk. Tellers were Clarence Tompkins, Leonard Ball and W. D. Corwin.

THREE KILLED IN POST ROAD CRASH

Ottavio Corpolongo, 21; Donald R. McHeath, 28; William J. Kelly, 22, and Alex. Giannini, 26, radio sinners of New York City, were killed when the car they were in, a 1936 Buick, crashed on the Post Road, south of Rhinebeck, Thursday night, after it failed to make a curve in the road.

The 1936 Ford coupe in which the radio entertainers were riding was traveling north at a terrific rate of speed and failed to make a sharp turn on the Post Road in the Riverview section of Rhinebeck.

WINTHISES FIND IT TOO WARM TO WORK AT LAKELAND

Mrs. John F. McCreery of the Brabant Road received a letter a few days ago from her neighbor, Mrs. Paul Wintish, who with her husband is spending the winter at their place in Lakeland, Fla. Mrs. Wintish said the weather was so warm that Paul found work none too inviting. The Wintishes left for Florida the middle of October to occupy the place they purchased at Lakeland a couple of years ago and they were devoting most of their two acres of land to the raising of strawberries.

European War Unlikely

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 6 (AP)—Little likelihood of a European war in the immediate future is seen by Henry D. Dupperrey, of Paris, president of Rotary International. "I feel certain that no nation in Europe wants war," declared Dupperrey, here to address a meeting of the Albany Rotary Club. "A war in Europe at this time would be suicide for any nation involved."

Rotary asserted, has aided materially in promoting better relations between different European nationalities.

Katz on Executive Board

Felix Katz of the Kingston Scrap Iron & Metal Company was elected a member of the executive board of the Capital District Chapter of the Institute of Scrap Iron & Steel at its first annual meeting held in Troy on Thursday evening.

Harry Symansky of Troy was elected president of the organization.

City is Fourth Important Point to Fall to Tokyo's Forces in Four Months of Fierce Fighting in North China.

MANEUVERS GO ON

Japanese Land New Unit on China's Seacoast South of Shanghai.

Peiping, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Japanese army announced tonight that Taiyuanfu, capital of Shansi province, was in its grasp although Japanese troops had not yet tried to enter the city's 40-foot walls.

A communiqué said air observers had reported that Japanese cavalry and mechanized units occupied the city's north gate at 9 a. m. today after fighting their way through the large industrial district outside the north wall.

It was in this district that General Yen Hsi-shan, governor of the province, had his formidable armaments.

Taiyuanfu was the fourth provincial capital to fall to the Japanese legions in just four months of the conquest of North China. Those previously taken were the capitals of Hopeh, Chahar and Szechuan.

Defenses in Danger

Shanghai, Nov. 6 (AP)—China's main defenses west of Shanghai were put in serious jeopardy, foreign military experts declared today, by the landing of a formidable Japanese force on the north shore of Hangchow Bay.

Japanese said large army units, aimed at encircling Shanghai and its environs, came ashore from the bay, the largest on the Chinese coast and about 30 miles south of Shanghai at its nearest point.

A Japanese army spokesman declared that the new unit, "fighting every inch of the way" for about 18 miles, tonight had reached the south bank of the Whangpoo river about 25 hours after coming ashore.

He did not disclose its exact location.

Chinese sources acknowledged that 3,000 Japanese had landed in the Hangchow Bay area and had met stiff Chinese resistance at Sungkai, within about five miles of Sungkai, an important point in the Chinese defenses, about 20 miles southwest of Shanghai.

"Many more transports" had arrived in the bay, the Chinese declared.

With the departure of Southern Methodist missionaries after Japanese air bombers had destroyed half of Sungkai, heavily damaging mission properties, no foreigners were known to remain in the city.

1,000 Japanese Landed

Chinese sources asserted that only about 1,000 Japanese had landed in the Hangchow Bay area under the protective barrage of 20 warships. They said the Chinese were closing in rapidly in a counter-drive to prevent the landing of reinforcements.

The Japanese reports of a swift drive north were believed to indicate a possibly decisive battle was impending in the vicinity of Shanghai. It was said already to have caused China to start evacuating Pootung.

A spokesman declared that a combined land, air and sea attack routed the Chinese and forced them back to the Whangpoo shore with Japanese infantry in pursuit.

The undisclosed point presumably was near Sungkai, a vital link in the Chinese main lines, about 20 miles southwest of Shanghai.

The Japanese veiled the size of their force and its specific objectives in utmost secrecy.

Three Transports Used

Foreign observers declared, however, that three transports carrying an estimated 8,000 troops carried out the operation. They said two Japanese divisions, recently withdrawn from the North China front, sailed southward from Tientsin about a week ago.

Japanese asserted that about 20,000 Chinese were defeated by the newly landed units despite a strong defensive system.

Japanese planes, apparently blasting the way ahead of the landing party, twice bombed Kashiung, 40 miles west of Shanghai. Fifty civilians were killed, more than 100 wounded and a school, the railway station and municipal building were damaged.

Foreign military observers said the Japanese northward drive from south of Shanghai aimed a direct blow at the Chinese right flank. They said it threatened one of China's main lines of communication and imperiled possible withdrawal of Chinese forces now in Pootung, the industrial area across

A.C. Tongue Leads Clee's Manager to Exhibitors, Third Seek Recount, Says Stamp Exhibit His Senator Won

The third annual stamp exhibit sponsored by the Colonial City Stamp Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel yesterday and today is attracting a large group of enthusiasts to the ballroom where over 100 frames of stamps, covers, and postal oddities are on display.

The judging of the various exhibits was performed Friday evening by L. T. Whiting, Jr., of Mills, and W. B. Wingo, Jr., of Poughkeepsie, with Arthur C. Tongue of Kingston being awarded seven ribbons, three blue, three red, and one yellow, denoting first, second, and third place, respectively. Lydia M. Scott acquired four blue ribbons and one yellow ribbon to take second place honors. Special awards made for certain classes of exhibits, went to A. C. Tongue, Bernstien, Jr., E. J. Lumsden, Harold Mandell, and Lydia M. Scott. Other ribbon winners are G. E. Gregory, H. C. Oschobou, Sidney H. Clapp, the Rev. W. F. Tague, A. B. Bopar, Marjory S. Darow, Charles B. O'Connor, Sidney Lane, E. J. Lumsden, Charles Foxworth, Paul Jones, C. H. Van der Loo, C. A. Raschke, Harry Stroder, Leo Schupp, Dr. H. M. Mustard and Mrs. M. V. Hathaway.

The display included the Von Hindenburg Zepplin stamp which commemorates the greatest air-traveler in history; covers mailed from the battleships in the Spanish War zone waters, scarce revenue stamps from the days of our own Civil War; letters mailed on Washington's birthday from all the numerous "Washington" post offices; a frame of letters bearing most of the postmarks ever used at Kingston and Rhinebeck; and many other rare stamps from Barbados; and the typical issues of both China and Japan.

The exhibition will close tonight with a dinner at seven o'clock, at which time the awards will be made. Guest speakers at this dinner will be Mr. James I. Weyer, state librarian, and Miska Petersham, well-known artist and author of Woodstock.

Nation's News in Brief

Minneapolis, N. Y., Nov. 6 (AP)—Two libel suits asking a total of $500,000 damages, were filed in supreme court yesterday against Raymond W. Alley, defeated Democratic candidate for Nassau county executive.

Percy C. Reed, proprietor of the Nassau County Kennel Club, better known as the Minicola Dog-racing Track, asked $100,000 damages on each of six counts.

His complaint cited alleged campaign statements by Alley charging that dog-racing was "purely a gangster racket" in which "Lucky" Luciano, notorious racketeer now in Sing Sing prison, "enjoyed an important part."

The second suit was filed by George Morton Levy, attorney for the Kennel Club and former attorney for Luciano, asking $100,000 on each of two counts of similar allegedly libelous statements.

Schirick Enjoins State from Using Red Hook Drains

A motion for a temporary injunction to restrain the State of New York from emptying drainage waters from the state highway running through Red Hook village into a drainage system used by the village of Red Hook came up this morning before Justice Harry E. Schirick. The action for a temporary injunction was brought by the Village of Red Hook against Frederick Stuart Greene, superintendent of public works of the state of New York. Jack Honigsbaum appeared for the attorney general's office and Elijah T. Russell for the village of Red Hook.

Mr. Russell told the court that he sought to restrain the state from using the drain operated by the village because refuse from the highway had clogged the drain which had been in use since 1869 and cause the water to back up in a drainage "basin" which lies upon the Otis S. Rynders property and created a nuisance as well as damaging the land of Rynders.

Motion Withdrawn
After the matter had been argued at some length and the attorney general defended the state's position the motion for a temporary injunction was withdrawn when Justice Schirick intimated that he did not see how any damage could result now since cold weather was about to set in. This theory had been advanced by Mr. Honigsbaum in his argument when he asked that the temporary injunction be denied on the grounds that the relief sought would not be necessary until warmer weather came. By that time he said the action against Col. Greene could be disposed of and the matter determined.

Mr. Russell after listening to the argument of counsel said that when he commenced the action it was warm weather and there was plenty of odor and frog-spawn in the "basin" and he had started his action for immediate relief but since then the condition had changed somewhat with cold weather and he believed that if a speedy determination of the matter was had this winter there was no imperative need for a temporary injunction.

Permanent Injunction
The village of Red Hook brings an action for a permanent injunction and Mr. Rynders also brings an injunction action and also demands $1,000 damages from Col. Green for crops which were flooded out this summer.

The action is in Ulster county supreme court and it has been agreed by the state that no application for a change of venue will be made. This will bring the matter up for trial probably in January. With this situation prevailing Mr. Russell said he would not press his motion for an injunction now and would withdraw the application.

U. P. A. Contest Winners Get Trip

The members of the winning team in the recent U. P. A. coffee raffle and selling contest conducted by the U. P. A. stores, will motor tomorrow to New York City, where they will be entertained by S. A. Schunbrunn & Co.

Following luncheon at the Lyncourt Plaza Hotel, the team will attend the Giants' football game at the Polo Grounds and the theatre in the evening.

The contest, conducted over a period of four weeks, resulted in the successful introduction of two new coffees to be known as "Senate House" and "Miracle Cup" and an increase of 146 percent in coffee sales. Over 8,300 pounds of coffee was sold during this period.

The following will make the trip: Clifford F. Bennett, George A. Dawkins, Milton Friedman, Morris Kenik, Fred Lang, William Lehr, Joseph Len, Chris Perry, Herman Rosas, Joseph Thorne, A. E. Vetoskie, M. A. Weishaup, Frank Spadick and Olga Vetoskie.

"Don'ts" Were Plentiful for Girl Cyclist of 1935

Hull, Miss—The girl bicyclist of 1935 had plenty of don'ts to worry about.

She was warned not to carry a flask and not to "travel on the assumption that because you are a woman street cars and brewery wagons will turn out for you."

A list of rules, printed in the old New York World, is owned by John E. Rudderham.

Some other "don'ts":

"Don't faint on the road."

"Don't say, 'Feel my muscle.'"

"Don't sit on your pocket oil can."

Tie Vote in Town Of Olive on the Office of Justice

The county Board of Canvassers, which is canvassing the results of the recent election, found an interesting situation confronting them when they came to the vote on justice of the peace in the town of Olive.

Two justices were to be elected for full terms, to replace Frederick Weldner, who was not a candidate for re-election, and Thomas Braithwaite, who died recently. The terms of both expire on December 31 of this year.

Three candidates were in the field for the two offices—Leonard Ruckert, D.; Lewis Joseph, R., and John W. Kelder, R.

Canvass of the vote shows that Ruckert and Joseph each received 357 votes, while Kelder received 443. This would indicate Kelder's election, but no election in the case of Ruckert and Joseph.

Question is, who fills the second vacancy. One attorney, who did not wish to be quoted, held that as justice of the peace is a constitutional office, with a fixed term he does not under the law hold over and therefore, with but one candidate receiving a plurality of the votes and the other two tied, there will still remain one vacancy in the board of justices. As he sees it, it will be up to the town board of the town of Olive to fill the vacancy at its first meeting in 1938, the justice named by them at that time to hold office until the next election.

"Easterling" Word Used to Denote Real Quality

After the Romans left Britain, coinage was in chaos for several centuries, writes Alice H. Countant in the American Collector. Coins were of all shapes and sizes. Quality and weight of silver varied greatly and the practice of clipping coins, although punishable by death, was common. Toward the middle of the Thirteenth century, a number of north German merchants came to England and formed a guild in London. They made their own coins which soon became notable for honesty of weight and fine quality.

Called "Easterlings," probably because of the geographical position of the country where they originated, the term soon applied to their coins as well. Then, by the end of the century, it had been shortened to sterling and thus, derived from the name given to the honest product of honest men, became the accepted term for the alloy which has been of such a high standard in England for more than 600 years.

Sterling silver is an alloy of 925 parts pure silver in 1,000. This standard, decreed by King Edward I in the year 1300, has been adhered to ever since, except for a few years when an even higher standard prevailed. No other country holds such a record.

Gorge Sees Only Noon Sun
Only at midday does the sun ever peep into the bottom of Indian pass, that narrow, mile-long gorge cut deep through solid rock between MacIntyre and Wallace mountains in the heart of the Adirondack wilderness a few miles southeast of Lake Placid. Called by the Indians "Henondawda," the Path of the Thunderer, Indian pass is one of the scenic marvels of the Adirondacks. Its walls rise straight up over a thousand feet. On the western (Wallace) side the perpendicular rock face rears itself 1,300 feet into the air. Near the middle of the pass, high up on MacIntyre, are two small springs, so close together that their waters almost intermingle. Separating a few feet farther down, they flow on to the bottom of the pass in two little rivulets. One rivulet finds its way south to the headwaters of the Hudson river, while the other heads north where eventually its sparkling content mingles with the mighty St. Lawrence.

Divining Rod Fails in Test at State College

State College, Pa.—If you want to know where to dig a water well, throw away your willow divining rod and just take a guess. You'll have better luck that way, tests conducted by Pennsylvania State college psychologists reveal.

After experiments with a Pennsylvania man who claimed the power to locate water with the legendary willow wand, two instructors found that the diviner's average was even lower than the results obtained by sheer guess.

The willow-wand wielder was asked to have his stick over two specially prepared boxes. With the diviner out of the room, the professors secreted water bottles first under one of the boxes, then under both boxes and finally left the water out altogether.

The score card revealed that the twig-tipper had failed.

The stock market does pretty well in the matter of divining, but can't compete with football.

agency, were indicted by a grand jury last April.

Judge Carroll C. Hincks indicated yesterday he would give a decision before the scheduled opening of the trial of Rand, president of Remington Rand, Inc., and his co-defendant, Monday on charges they violated the so-called federal "anti-strikebreaking" law during a strike at Rand's Middletown, Conn., typewriter factory in 1936.

Edison Memorial

Cornell, N. Y., Nov. 6 (AP)—An electric light bulb 14 feet high, designed as a memorial to the man who invented the incandescent lamp, has been completed here after six months of work. The light will be installed as a beacon atop the Alva Edison Memorial Tower at Menlo Park, N. J.

Officials of the Corning Glass Works said the bulb consists of 164 pieces of cast glass in a two-inch diamond pattern and is nine feet six inches in diameter. The inside of the bulb will be fitted with 960 incandescent electric lights.

Sit-Down Review

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Supreme Court undertook today to decide whether to review litigation involving constitutionality of sit-down strikes.

Other cases before the justices at their regular weekly meeting included two appeals by the National Labor Relations Board requesting compliance with orders issued against Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines, Inc., and the Delaware-New Jersey Ferry Company. There also was a petition by three Florida companies seeking reconsideration of recent action by the tribunal on the ground that Justice Hugo L. Black was ineligible to sit on the bench.

5 Persons Killed

Lovely, Ga., Nov. 6 (AP)—C. C. Callaway, Loveloy merchant, said today five persons were killed when the engine and five cars of the "Southland," Central Railroad of Georgia passenger train, were derailed after striking a truck here.

No passengers were reported seriously hurt in first accounts.

The Southland was headed from the Florida west coast via Atlanta and Cincinnati to the Middle West.

"Not Wanted"

Indianapolis, Nov. 6 (AP)—Fourteen-year-old Raymond Weaver walked into juvenile court and told Judge John F. Geckler he was "not wanted by anyone" and willing to go to White's Institute for Boys at Wabash.

"I don't know where my father is, sir," the boy said. "But mother is somewhere in Cincinnati, I think. I hitch-hiked to Cincinnati to see mother once, but when I went back, again she was gone. I haven't heard from her since."

The judge, touched by the story yesterday, said he did not want to send the boy to White's but thought "White's is the best place for you now."

"Do you mind going there?" the judge asked.

"It doesn't make any difference to me," Raymond sighed.

May Reconsider Action

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 6 (AP)—The Buffalo common council prepared today to reconsider its action in dismissing a special committee whose findings resulted in a court inquiry into allegations of city payroll irregularities.

A special session of the council was called for today at the request of six members of the body, which three days ago refused to retain the services of Attorney Frank G. Rathbale as counsel to the investigating committee.

3 Men Acquitted

Cambridge, N. Y., Nov. 6 (AP)—A supreme court jury early today acquitted three men of first degree murder charges growing out of the killing of William Van Cise, elderly refuse, at Addison, N. Y., in 1932.

The three defendants Anthony Mistretta, Anthony Ceruso and Bartolo remained in custody, however, pending arguments on a defense motion for dismissal of another murder indictment outstanding against them in connection with the death of Van Cise's brother, Frank.

Relief from Scalpers

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Paul Moss, commissioner of licenses, today promised theatre-goers relief from ticket speculators and "venue" actors and actresses a "municipal laboratory" for experiments.

Moss said he would seek a municipal ordinance for licensing theatre ticket brokers to eliminate speculation for legitimate stage productions.

He said also that, speaking to Mayor LaGuardia, who was unable to attend a meeting of the Actors' Equity Association that the city would, if possible, establish the Laboratory-theatre so that aspiring thespians might gain more experience.

More Labor Optimism

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—Organized labor's peace negotiations, including a week-end process, showed more optimism today than at any time in recent weeks.

Although none of the ten C. I. O. or three U. P. of L. delegates to the peace conference would say a reconciliation was in sight, all reported progress in reaching the heart of their problem-jurisdiction of conflicting unions.

Just Leads to Suit

Los Angeles, Nov. 6 (AP)—Film Producer Mervyn Le Roy today said he believed an innocent test had led to the filing of a $125,000 damage suit against him by his former partner.

George Engelman filed the suit yesterday, said he did not want to send the boy to White's but

Central P. O. Will Not Be Ready for Occupancy Dec. 1

The remodeled and enlarged Central Post Office will not be ready for occupancy December 1, as at first planned. It was said today by Postmaster William R. Kraft.

Although the contractors were to have had the building ready by the first of the month, they are somewhat behind on the contract time and also have to do additional work not stipulated in the original contract.

Postmaster Kraft said that although he had not heard officially from the contractors he did not believe the building would be ready much before February 1.

While the addition to the central office is under construction, the post office is using the former Low Garage on upper Broadway. This building was recently purchased by the Coca Cola Co. for use as a distributing plant and they are to take possession as soon as the post office is moved into its newly enlarged quarters.

Education Week To Be Observed

American Education Week will be observed in Kingston from November 7 to 13, and Superintendent B. C. Van Lusen of Kingston's public schools, has extended an invitation to parents and friends of the schools to visit the schools on Friday when open house will be observed. Because Thursday is Armistice Day there will be no school that day in the city.

There will be a state-wide observance of next week, and Kingston is arranging interesting programs to commemorate the event here.

Education Week will be of special interest in New York state this year because the state is celebrating the five important anniversaries.

They are: The 150th anniversary of the reorganization of the University of the State of New York, the 125th anniversary of the establishing of the present common school system, the 100th anniversary of the first school superintendent in the United States; the 75th anniversary of the extension of the common school system to New York city, and the 70th anniversary of the free school law.

No Direct Negotiations

Government officials at Nan-king, meanwhile, declared that China would consider no direct peace negotiations with Japan until every possibility of international intervention had been exhausted and every collective effort had failed to achieve peace.

They conceded, however, that China might consider an unconditional truce if it were guaranteed by a third power or group of powers and held Chinese sovereignty and territorial integrity inviolable.

Foreign observers reported that Chinese troops had occupied a number of foreign homes in the western Hungjiao Country Club and residential suburb where many Americans live, and had looted some.

The American-owned Rubicon Inn, south of Soochow creek, was struck by Japanese shells and a bomb. The once-tamous night club now is encircled by barbed wire fences and is used by Chinese troops for machine-gun posts.

Mrs. Helen Piper of Des Moines, Ia., owner of the club, evacuated it safely with her 50 canaries and thrushes and 16 cats and dogs just before the bombardment.

Fire Destroyed New Salem House

Fire, of unknown origin, completely destroyed the two-story frame house on the Port Jervis-New Salem road, about a quarter of a mile from the West Shore railroad station in Port Jervis, this morning. The house, formerly the old Wendell Schermer residence, was occupied by Michael Schermer. The fire broke out about 11 o'clock.

From what could be learned none of the family was at home when the fire broke out. Neighbors who discovered the blaze called the Port Jervis fire department, but efforts to save the house proved futile.

PERSISTENT PACIFIST

It is said that the State Department at Washington is accumulating a large shelf of letters and telegrams in its files under the name of "Pickus". Mr.
 Pickus is a private citizen, an oil company official, who has been consuming interest outside of his work. He is devoted to the cause of peace and goes to the attainment of his ideal in a forthright, if impractical, manner.

Mr. Pickus served in the American army during the World War.
 That experience and events since then have convinced him that war is wholly disagreeable and futile. He believes there should be no war and he leaves no telegram unsent that might contribute his bit toward stopping or preventing war. This peace enthusiast has spent considerable sums of money on long distance telephone calls to cabinet officials of foreign governments, to foreign ambassadors in Washington and to our own State Department.
 Sometimes he writes letters.
 Sometimes he telegraphs his views.

He has sent advice in one of another of these forms to British, Russian, French, Japanese, Chinese and American officials. It is possible he has communicated with Hitler and Mussolini. So far he has received courteous, if non-committal, answers. No government has protested his activity.
 All seem to regard him as harmless. The press reports his activities humorously. The public is amused for a moment and forgets him until next time. But why laugh at these efforts? We can't see that the diplomats or prime ministers or generals or peace societies have yet accomplished any more than this eccentric pacifist.

PUBLIC COMMENT

With the air and the papers full of comment on public affairs and public people, questions of principle and method become interesting. How should such criticism be handled? A writer who has had a good deal of experience in this field, and has been obliged to do some real thinking about it, says the main qualifications for public comment, along with a broad range of information, are these: "An objective viewpoint, a lack of personal animus, a human understanding, an attitude of fairness toward people with whom you disagree, a realization that men's intentions may be good even though their judgments be bad and their policies unsound."

As for personal criticism of public characters, he says: "We commentators are legitimately concerned only with demonstrable facts and with the wisdom or folly of acts and policies. Our proper method is impersonal. We cannot know the motives moving other people, whether in public or private life; we may not even know our own motives. We should criticize what public men do and say, without impugning their characters. We should not denounce and vituperate, but analyze and clarify. The most effective weapon is the calm truth itself."

ACTIVE OLD FOLKS

Recreation should not end at fifty. Dr. Bernard Sachs, neurologist and former president of the New York Academy of Medicine, advises men and women over fifty to "continue doing those things which they have been accustomed to do" and to "add a few tricks." He is addressing people who are not afflicted with physical disabilities which necessarily limit their activity.

Approaching eighty himself, Dr.
 Sachs has practiced his own teaching, which is "Keep on doing, keep on planning." An active mind, a brain that works well and a life that is independent of others as far as possible help to keep the mental faculties vigorous. Walking, golf, or any familiar exercises or pleasures, encourage the organs of the body to continue their activity and function normally.

The reason why some people go to pieces as soon as they retire is that they retire from everything instead of merely dropping their business routine. They give up instead of keeping up a variety of interests. Old age would be a lot pleasanter for the elderly persons concerned and for their younger relatives if more people took the commonsense view of this problem.

WOMEN'S STATUS

The federal women's bureau estimates that more than one-fifth of the women in this country are gainfully employed. Of these 10,752,000 women earners, more than one-third are also homemakers and one-tenth are the sole support of families of two or more persons. Many others contribute to family support beyond their own share. The Bureau finds also that women's jobs are invariably on a lower wage level than those of men in identical industries.
 All of these figures are estimates,
 but probably are roughly accurate.
 They were assembled in reply to an inquiry from the International labor office at Geneva which is making a study of the economic status of women.

It will be interesting to learn how conditions in America compare with those under which England and other European countries live and work. It is clear that economic equality between men and women is still theoretical here. Many people, including many women, are not won over to the idea that women have a right to economic independence, to self-expression, to careers.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Doran, M.D.

GET OFF YOUR FEET

A physician arose one holiday morning, had breakfast, and walked down the street a few blocks to make some necessary purchases for the day's holiday trip.

He was gone about three minutes and when he returned he removed his clothing and got into bed. The family was surprised and disappointed, but he simply said, "I feel all right but on my way down the street I had two severe chills; there's something wrong and I'm getting off my feet until I find out what is causing the chills."

As his pulse was 100 and his temperature 102 degrees, he sent for a neighboring physician to drop around.

His physician found the pulse 120, the temperature 102½, and blood pressure up about 20 points, but like the physician himself, he was unable to find any trouble as there was no pain anywhere, no nausea or vomiting. All that was found in addition to the increased temperature and pulse was a slight redness of the throat.

The physician's patient remained in bed one week, during which time the pulse rate continued at 120 and the temperature at 102 degrees.

What was the cause of this bounding and increased pulse and high temperature? The cause was never discovered, but something—food, waste products in the intestine, or other substance in the blood—was poisoning the system and the chills gave the patient such timely warning that he was off his feet five minutes after pulse and temperature were down to normal.

When the blood is absorbing poison from any source there is an instant need for more heat. When the temperature of the interior of the body rises rapidly a sensation of chilliness results since the outside surface of the skin which is losing heat of heat has a lower temperature than the inside. This coldness or coolness is immediately telegraphed to the brain which sends impulses to the little blood vessels of the skin to take in or hold more blood. This extra blood flushes the skin and a feeling of warmth replaces the chill.

Remember that a chill is a definite sign of some kind of poisoning, and Nature is fighting it off by creating and regulating heat.
 Get off your feet when you feel a chill.

Two's Company

By MARGARET CLON HERZOG

The Characters
 Nina impulsively married
 David, but finds she can't forget her intense love for her stepfather.
 Richard, the charming, well-tailored stepfather, shamelessly talks of love to Nina.
 Honey, Nina's gay, youthful mother, is wild about Richard,
 her newly acquired husband.
 David, a bright young auto salesman, adores Nina and strives to make her happy on his small salary.

Chapter 30

'Business Conference'

"HONEY is much more apt to obey you, Doctor," Nina went on. And besides, you can see my position... just newly married and all—still honeymooning, really—it might look as though I wanted to be... well, left alone, for a while."

Old Dr. Fellows laughed.
 "Well, I'd be glad to speak to her about it, Nina, but you know your mother's a bit obstreperous when it comes to acknowledging ill health... or fatigue, as it is in this case."

"Speak to her husband—to Richard, then."

"That might be better."

"Call him up, see him, and...
 and let me know what he says, will you? If that doesn't work, though I'm sure it will, I'll get on the job."

"All right, child, I'll do that.
 Now you won't alarm yourself about your mother's condition, will you?
 Rest is all she needs."

"Dr. Fellows, that was an attack of grippie she had, wasn't it?"
 "Yes, it was grippie."

They said goodbye... and, as always in her thoughts concerning Richard, Nina found herself torn between two conflicting things:
 what was right... and what she wanted.

The door-bell rang, and Nina took a deep breath... opened it.
 "Nina..."

She backed away, hastily.
 "I asked you to come here, Richard, dear," she found herself
 using an absurd, Sunday-school voice, "because there's nothing—well, clandestine, about it. This is a business conference."

"May I put my feet up on a chair, and light a cigar? May I keep my derby on then?"

Nina said, reproachfully:
 "You're making fun of me—bad Richard."

And he said: "Of course I am...
 bad."

She moved to an isolated walnut chair.

"Sit down, won't you?"
 "Thanks."

He was evidently humoring her.
 "Honey tells me that you're planning to leave on a cruise, in about 10 days," she began... innocently.

Richard pulled out his cigarette case, but stared at it, without pressing the spring.

"Yes-s-s," he frowned a little.
 "Nina, my dear, couldn't you do anything but agree to go... urge Honey to, in fact, since it involved a matter of her health?"

Something more than the terrible feeling of attraction she felt for him, welled up in her... a feeling of admiration, as well. He was fine.

It was especially moving, because it was the first time she had felt it about him. Her love for him had been a wrong thing, and therefore, his love for her was, too. But she had had to acknowledge that. But now he was being—splendid; and she had a hard time to keep from going over into his arms.

"It Was A Miracle"
 QUITE suddenly, she found herself asking a question that had been in her heart for weeks.

"Richard... tell me how do you feel about Honey?" She had to know.

He lit his cigarette now, blew a puff of smoke up to the ceiling. It looked like a cloud against the blue of the walls.

"I wonder if I can explain to you," he answered slowly, weighing his words. "I'm tremendously fond of her, Nina. I... I love her. I think, too, only..."

"Why did you marry her, Richard, so suddenly? You have to have some greater urge than fondness... than thinking you love someone... to do a thing like that."

"I laughed a little... bitterly.
 "You had one, didn't you...
 dearest?"

"Yes..." softly. She was looking down.

"To answer your question: I thought, at that time, my feeling for Honey was the biggest thing I had ever known... it was—then, Nina... Nina, am I to be blamed
 if I do a perfectly horrible thing,

Your School Child Will Appreciate Lunches That Are A Little Special

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
AP Feature Service Writer

It's worth walking home from school to find a lunch that's a little special. And mother doesn't have to spend all morning to make that kind of a lunch, either. Here are some suggestions.

Home-made hamburgers and piping hot beans with some home-made chili sauce or catsup are a lot better than anything you can buy, for instance.

So are home-made hot sandwiches. You can use last night's leftover meat—topped by leftover gravy, heated good and hot.

Soup For Wash Days
Or you can put leftover meat, chipped beef or chopped hard-cooked eggs into steaming cream sauce and serve it on fresh, crisp, unbuttered toast.

On wash days, when you haven't a spare minute, serve soup. (If you serve different kinds of soup different days you can have soup meals more often.)

Cream of mushroom soup, vegetable soup or clam chowder, is awfully good when there's plenty of melba toast or nice crisp crackers on the side.

Add some fruit sauce or a small salad, milk and cookies to the menu and you have some thing to look forward to.

On bake-day morning it isn't much trouble to stick something extra in the oven—baking potatoes, macaroni and cheese, rice and tomatoes, escalloped corn, custard, gingerbread, or a rice, fruit or brown Betty pudding.

If you have a little extra time try using eggs. Creamed or scrambled eggs—or omelets or soufflés—may be served alone or you can add leftover meats and vegetables.

Advice On Desserts

Don't serve desserts that are too rich. Patties, pies and drop cakes or cookies, gelatin desserts or baked apples satisfy the sweet tooth just as well.

Milk is almost a must for children at all meals. It is especially important at noon. Of course, it is mixed with cereals and topped by a teaspoonful of whipped cream or a marshmallow that's so much the better.

Canned or stewed fruits, baked puddings (rice, coconut, chocolate, caramel, bread or fruit),

Apply Learning, First Lady Urges

Ithaca, Nov. 6.—"How can I prepare for a job? Shall I marry, and if so, should I keep an outside job? What shall I do with my leisure?"

These three questions should be uppermost in the minds of all girls during their college years, according to Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt who spoke recently to Cornell University women on "The Approach to Life Gained Through College." This was the first of a series of talks, sponsored by the student council of the New York state college of home economics, on "Careers for Women."

The First Lady said it was valuable for every girl to do some kind of work occasionally on a professional basis. "It gives a professional attitude to later work—whether it is volunteer charity work or running a home—and makes a person more efficient in any job. Moreover, it gives training for a job that one can 'fall back on' later if necessary."

Develop "Tools"
While in college, "tools" should be developed that will prove useful in any kind of later life, Mrs. Roosevelt said. Get all the information you can, and learn how to apply it. Make your mind do what you want in an efficient way, she urged. The hands, too, should be disciplined to some specific skill. If one skill is mastered then others come easily.

Before deciding on a vocation, Mrs. Roosevelt urged every girl to be well informed on different kinds of jobs and to discover those that are not over-crowded. She should also consider the kind of life she wants to live and the kind of place to live in.

"Most young people want to marry, and it is not true that girls prepared for definite occupations are unfitted for married and family life." Whether a girl should give up her position when she marries depends entirely upon individual circumstances, and the answer should be made by husband and wife together, Mrs.

Helps For Housewives

To add a nutty flavor to oatmeal cookies sprinkle the oatmeal in a thin layer in a shallow pan and heat it for about five minutes before mixing. But be careful not to burn it.

Stuff tomatoes with cottage cheese mixed with diced pineapple. The result is a tasty combination.

Use a mild soap or soap powder for washing painted walls. Strong solutions are likely to remove the paint or streak the surface. Use quantities of clean water and plenty of clean cloths. Wash a small space at a time and then wipe it dry. If you use a prepared paint cleaner be sure to follow the directions.

After you have used a chamois skin for cleaning windows or washing the car rinse it out three times, shake it well and hang it up to dry. Pull and shake it several times while it is drying. (That will keep it soft.) Chamois should be dried slowly—never directly in the sun or over heat.

Mix your spices to save time in cooking. Add four tablespoonsful of cinnamon to two tablespoonsful each of cloves, nutmeg, ginger and mace. Place them in a large salt shaker and keep it handy.

Grate raw carrots and use them with primes in relish salads. The salad may then be served as a separate course or with roast fowl.

Soak goulashes in glass pie dishes. They may then be cut into wedged-shaped pieces and served directly from the baking dish. Only fill the dish half full of the uncooked soules to allow for rising.

Mix all the ingredients and pour into a buttered loaf pan. Bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Unmold and serve hot or cold, surrounded with creamed lima beans.

Place cookies about two inches apart on the baking sheet. Doing so allows plenty of room for spreading during baking.

Cottage cheese may be used in place of cream cheese. If it is pressed through a fine sieve to remove the moisture.

Apple Pudding

1 1/2 cups flour 2 tablespoons granulated sugar

2 cups milk 1/2 cup milk

Mix the flour with baking powder and salt. Cut in fat and add sugar and milk. Pat out the soft dough in a shallow greased pan. Top with the apples.

Apples

2 cups sliced apples 1 teaspoon cinnamon

1/2 cup water 1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 cup fruit 1/2 teaspoon cloves

2 tablespoons butter 1/2 teaspoon salt

Mix apples and water. Let simmer for 5 minutes. Cool. Add rest of the ingredients and pour over the soft dough. Bake 25 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve warm or cold with cream, whipped cream, fruit or hard sauce.

For That Pain In Your Neck You Need Exercise And Rest

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Feature Service Writer

American business women have a pain in the neck. That's not a flip remark; it's a sad truth.

Catherine Van Rensselaer, director of physical education at the American Women's Club in New York, tells me that the tired pain in the large muscles at either side of the neck is one of the complaints she finds most common among business women.

A Town-Full of Aches

Miss Van Rensselaer deals with a town-full of business women (2,800 last year) and keeps records of their occupational ailments. Next to the pain in the neck she lists indigestion, ailing feet and incurable posture.

I will treat those last three in succeeding articles. This time we're concerned with the neck.

Miss Van Rensselaer recommends exercise and relaxation as a treatment. Exercise loosens the tightened muscles, a little sleep or just lying down for a while, helps finish the treatment.

Two Good Exercises

She suggests two exercises, one for each end of the big muscle that suffers.

For the first, you shut your eyes so you won't get dizzy, and roll your head just a few times, heading it each direction as far as you can without straining.

For the second, raise your elbows until they are in line with your shoulders, then move the elbows in little circles. Miss Van Rensselaer says you'll get the most benefit from this if you keep the elbows below the level of the shoulders.

Both these exercises help your circulation. And they're good ones for the motorist to keep in mind. The muscles involved are the same ones that ache after you've been driving a long time.

Quilt making is fascinating—come and join the fun! You'll love this Merry-Go-Round quilt—with strips the same width it's ever so simple to cut—and easy to piece too. You must change about with two materials for the striking effect. Be sure to use a bright print, and "set it off" with a plain material. You'll be piecing the last few blocks before you know it. One ten inch block with a border makes an attractive pillow. In pattern 5802 you will find the Block Chart, carefully drawn pattern pieces, a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials, directions for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, and a diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single and double bed size.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman, Household Arts Dept., 259 W. 11th street, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

Politeness Plays Its Part In Your Beauty Treatment

By JOAN DURHAM

(AP Feature Service Writer)

The woman who is considerate in the beauty parlor gets the most for her money—a better shampoo, a more flattering finger wave.

Dumas, one of New York's well-known beauticians, has some suggestions along that line:

Determine in advance what you can spend.

Stick to your regular hairdresser, or if you ask for advice, depend on your operator's judgment.

Be on time for your appointments.

It isn't only for your dollars that the beauty operator works," says Dumas. "If you are nice to him he will be anxious to please."

Being on time assures satisfactory work for if you're late you're bound to be rushed.

"Yes, many prominent and wealthy women are late," he says, darkly. "You can't tell such a woman what you think, of course. There is too much money involved and she knows it. But she never received full value."

How can the customer judge a beauty parlor? And what can she rightfully expect?

A good beauty parlor is clean. Operators in the best ones always are attentive.

Good operators brush your hair well before shampooing.

A good operator doesn't ask if your hair is dry—she makes sure of it herself. She knows the customer can't tell.

Every customer's hair is combed before she walks out of the shop. Is it all right to cancel or change appointments? Of course.

But if you do it on less than two hours' notice offer to pay for at least half the cost. Most hairdressers will refuse to let you do so. "But they will be very devoted to you for your respect," Dumas adds.

How much should your tip be? Ten per cent of the manure cost to the manicurist and ten per cent of the shampoo and finger wave charge to the hairdresser.

Light Special Is Held by Schirick

In comparison with the past few special terms Justice Henry E. Schirick had a rather light regular special term at the court house Friday.

An application for a change of venue from Columbia county to Westchester county was made in an action in negligence brought by Ellene Brunner against Helen J. C. Hemmingway. Plaintiff alleges she was injured while engaged at work in Westchester county where she had gone for work and she seeks damages. Her cause of action was brought in Columbia county where she resided and where she returned for treatment after her injury. Application for change of place of trial was made by defendant on the grounds that convenience of witnesses would be better served if the case could be tried in Westchester county. Plaintiff charged that her doctor who treated her in Columbia county and it would be just as inconvenient for him to go to Westchester county. Speedy trial in Columbia county was also a ground for trial there. Judge Schirick denied the application for change of venue.

Another Columbia county action which came before the court was an application for interlocutory judgment in an action brought by Stanley Miller against Mary A. Miller and others. R. Monell Hersberg appeared for plaintiff, who is executor of an estate involved and Edward C. O'Connell appeared for the defendants, infants, as counsel and as guardian ad litem. The plaintiff Stanley, who is executor under a will, has started partition action against the defendants to sell the Miller farm at Germantown. His attorney stated that plaintiff sought to buy property for which he now is acting in the capacity of executor. The executor asked for an interlocutory judgment and directed the sale of the farm premises which is located at Germantown and is assessed at $10,000. The defendants by Mr. O'Connell asked that the sale be held off until the spring when farm property is more valuable. The plaintiff asked the court to direct the sale now as the property which is unoccupied now would deteriorate during the winter months if it remained closed. Justice Schirick took papers and reserved decision.

Under an order to show cause the O'Connell Grand vs. Charles Frischling matter again came before the court. This time the plaintiff asked for a temporary injunction pending trial of the civil action which is being brought for a permanent injunction.

In June of 1937 the plaintiff entered into a contract with defendant for the purchase of bread. In that contract it was stipulated that in the event of any dispute arising from the sale of the bread, the parties should refer the matter to arbitration. On August 19 Grand was served with a notice to proceed with arbitration. Plaintiff Grand claims that both parties have waived their right to arbitration and he claims he has a right to proceed with a civil suit.

Mr. Ewig opposed the granting of a temporary injunction and denied that his client had ever said in open court that the right to arbitration was waived. Papers were submitted.

ELLENVILLE

Finklestein-Katzman.

Ellenville, Nov. 5.—Miss Leah Katzman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Katzman, and Morris Finklestein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Finklestein, both of Ulster Heights, were married on Saturday, October 30, by Rabbi Joel Horowitz. Edward Holland of Ellenville witnessed the ceremony.

Dixon-Friedman

Ellenville, Nov. 5.—Miss Mildred Friedman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Friedman of Napanoch, and Joseph Francis Dixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Obadiah Dixon, also of Napanoch, were married on Sunday by Father Edward C. Nihan at St. Mary's Church. The witnesses were Harold C. Klett and Miss Harriet Brown, both of New York city.

Claims resulting from theft of freight paid by the railroads in the first six months of 1937 were less than in any corresponding period on record.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

American Education Week, November 7-13, will be observed with special interest in New York state this year, because the state is celebrating five important educational anniversaries.

The year 1937 marks the 150th anniversary of the reorganization of the University of the State of New York and the admission to it of the first two academies, Erasmus Hall, New York city, and Clinton Academy, East Hampton; this year also is the 125th anniversary of the establishing of the present common school system; the 100th anniversary of the creation of the first city school superintendent in the United States at Buffalo; the 95th anniversary of the extension of the common school system to New York city; and the 17th anniversary of the free school law.

This year's American Education Week program, sponsored by the National Education Association and the American Legion, is well adapted for a special celebration in New York state. The general theme is "Our National Life" and the topics for each day are:

Sunday—Can We Educate for Peace?

Monday—Buying Educational Service.

Tuesday—The Horace Mann Centennial.

Wednesday—Our American Youth Problem.

Thursday—Schools and the Constitution.

Friday—School open house day.

Saturday—Lifelong Learning.

The daily programs in New York state will vary somewhat. On Tuesday while the nation is celebrating the "Horace Mann Centennial", New York will not only remember its debts to Horace Mann, but it will pay tribute to Ezra L. Hommedieu, Alexander Hamilton, DeWitt Clinton, Jedediah Peck, Gideon Hawley, and all others who did for New York state what Horace Mann did for Massachusetts. On Tuesday New York state will try to raise its understanding of its universities and its system of free common schools. Observing the anniversary of the laws of 1787, 1812, 1842 and 1867, will help recall the struggle of the forefathers to establish the public school system which is now taken for granted.

On Thursday, the public schools of New York state will review their heritage from the Federal Constitution, but they will also devote some attention to their state constitution. With a constitutional convention only a few months away, New York schools will review the foundations upon which the public school system rests. They will recall how the constitution of 1894 merely summarizes the policies adopted in the laws of 1787, 1812, 1842, and 1867. They will come to a better understanding of their system of free common schools under the direct civil control of the citizens in each community.

An important departure in this year's program is the setting aside of a whole day for school visitation. Parent-Teacher Associations are cooperating in this phase of the program. According to a circular prepared by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, parents are urged to visit their schools to become familiar with a day's program of school work as followed out by the child; ascertain what provision is made in the school program for the health, intellectual growth, social cooperation, and emotional stability of the pupil; discover how the individual home may contribute to the effectiveness of learning on the part of the child; and learn how the home and school, working together, may function in relation to the community with reference to the welfare of children and youth.

Last year, nearly a million New York state citizens visited the public schools during American Education Week.

Sophomores attended a special assembly Wednesday morning. Mr. Dunbar addressed the students, the subject was attitudes. He said people are unhappy in life because of their attitude. Good attitudes should become habits now. Cooperation, thoughtfulness for others, to do the best work possible are all attitudes which are needed. Extra curricular activities are good for they develop these attitudes. Mr. Dunbar gave many examples with each attitude so that all could understand the meaning of these attitudes.

The Newton Science Club held a meeting Tuesday. After a short meeting, Mr. Whiston demonstrated static discharges, lighting, which included the principle of neon signs.

Prisma has elected the following officers: President, Caroline McCreery; vice presidents, Victoria Rooney, Ella Guida, Rose Helen Meller; recording secretary, Ruth Britt; corresponding secretary, Shirley Dunham; chairman of charity work, Emily Cragin; and chairman of social activities Jeanne DuBois.

Next Tuesday there will be a special Senior assembly. A representative of Oswego State College will address the students.

Wednesday there will be a special B assembly with an Armistice Day program.

Principal Clarence Dumm invites all parents or those interested to visit Kingston High School next Friday. All who attend will be shown how the school operates. The visitors will be able to step into classes and listen to recitations as well as see how the classes operate.

Dangerous Decades. El Centro, Calif.—Al Coon will take mighty good care of his right great toe in 1947.

It was smashed by an express wagon 20 years ago.

Ten years ago a block of ice flattened it.

Now it is crushed again, this time by a gasoline drum.

At The Theatres

Today

Broadway: "Double or Nothing." Bing Crosby, plus his finest cast, rattle off one of the most original of this year's musicals as the action centers around a gambler who has plenty of what it requires to get along in his calling. This show is a series of gags, dances, specialty numbers and songs sung with the talented Crosby touch. Martha Raye contributes a couple of crazy numbers that are above her average and the entire production is a smooth, disjointed entertainment piece of real value. The cast offers such accessory players as Mary Carlisle, Andy Devine, Fay Holden, William Frawley and Bill Henry. A Paramount musical treat directed by Theodore Reed.

Kingston: "Artists and Models." One of the most entertaining films of the year appears at the Kingston with the radio's most popular comic as master of ceremonies of this elaborate song and dance musical. Laughs, pretty girls, song bits, startling novelty effects, smooth direction and dialogue plus the talented finesse of Jack Benny, ace comedian of the radio. Others in the big name cast include Ida Lupino, Richard Arlen, Martha Raye, Ben Blue, Andre Kostelanetz and his orchestra, the Yacht Club Boys, Louis Armstrong, Judy Canova, Russell Patterson's "Personettes", Connie Boswell and Judy, Anne and Zeke. Here is a musical entertainment at his best and funniest, a rare and expertly produced picture by Paramount and directed by Raoul Walsh.

Orpheum: "Small Town Boy" and "Public Cowboy No. 1." Stuart Erwin plays the role of a small town yokel who rises to great heights before the final click of the camera in the opening feature at the Orpheum. Joyce Compton is also in the cast. "Public Cowboy No. 1" is the other attraction, an average western yarn with the singing Gene Autry starred.

Tomorrow

Broadway: Same.

Kingston: Same.

Orpheum: "The League of Frightened Men" and "Whistling Bullets." A mass murder plot created in the mind of a revengeful man stirs up considerable excitement in the best of the Orpheum features, a fast moving, terrifying murder mystery with Walter Connolly, Lionel Stander, Irene Hervey and Eduardo Cinnelli featured. "Whistling Bullets" is the other attraction, a western thriller with Kermit Maynard.

Auxiliary Aids Victory Ball

The Auxiliary Unit of Kingston Post American Legion will assist the Post on the staging of the Annual Victory Ball at the auditorium Armistice Night, November 11. The following committee chairmen have been appointed: Hon. chairman, Mrs. Chris Roche; general chairman, Mrs. Herman I. DuBois; refreshments, Mrs. Jane McManus and Mrs. Alice Ashby; dining room, Mrs. Herman G. Rafalowsky; punch, Mrs. Harry D'Aigle and Mrs. Ralph Fredonburgh; cigarettes, Mrs. Robert J. Hudler; flowers, Mrs. Edward J. Luedtke and Mrs. Roy Jacob. Vice Commander Jack Rabin in charge of entertainment, has secured a stage show consisting of six acts, all well known as entertainers past and present. Past Commander Lester C. Elmendorf of the floor committee has mapped out a plan of seating arrangements affording all a clear view of the performers. Harry Whitney and Thomas Murray, in charge of check rooms, have recruited a corps of first class assistants. Vice Commander Walter Fullen, in charge of stage arrangements, has promised some unusual effects. Users will wear Drum Corps dress uniforms and they will be in charge of Ernest Heppner. Post Commander Roy Jacob, a master at the art of decoration, will tone up the walls of the auditorium with a galaxy of flags of all nations. Edward J. Higgs has secured the services of Mollott's and Zucca's orchestras to furnish music. Vice Commander William Jordan will present a short and impressive 11 o'clock ceremony. The box office will be in charge of Austin O'Toole, assisted by James Howard. Joseph Sills and Al Messenger are in charge of the door. This efficient group is acting under the General Chairman, Post Commander Harry L. Kircbner, with Post Treasurer Harry R. Karnaghan as assistant general chairman. The program is as follows. Doors open at 7; concert at 8; entertainment starting promptly at 8:30, with dancing at 10 until 2 a. m.

Due to rising prices, coal purchased by the railroads in July, 1937, cost 35 per cent more than in May, 1933.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By Associated Press

OF All the Nerve!
New York—Patrolman Bert Willett went off duty at midnight and put his uniform in his car. Emerging from his precinct station a few minutes later, he saw John Rossi, 25, sauntering along wearing his coat, sauntering buttoned.

"Where'd you get that coat?" Willett asked.

"I just bought it in the Bowery for 35 cents," the man replied.

"Well, it cost me $35," the officer said, pointing to his trousers pulled up under Rossi's arm. "What about those?"

"Oh, they threw them in for nothing."

Willett threw Rossi in the jug on a larceny charge.

Reunion.

Uniontown, Pa. Three generations of the Myers family were in a hospital here today.

The day after Mrs. Charles Myers, 71, gave birth to a daughter here, the child's grandfather and great-grandmother were admitted with broken legs suffered in an auto accident and a fall.

Better Late Than—

Idaho Falls, Idaho—"Just think what I could have done if I'd turned out earlier," mused Chester Lowrie. He waited until the municipal golf course was closed officially to play it the first time this year.

Met in Ho-pital.

Kewanee, Ill.—A brother and sister, 61 and 60 years old, met for the first time in a hospital here.

The meeting took place when Charles Woldner of Goodnight, Okla., visited his sister, Mrs. George McNaught of Kewanee, a patient in the hospital. They said their parents separated in Maryland, Ia., shortly before the sister was born.

Buddhism was introduced into China from India.

ASSOCIATED PRESS PICTURE NEWS

DEATH COMES DOWN IN A PERFECT LANDING although this Chinese plane was in flames and its pilot dying following an aerial battle with Japanese fighters. Mortally wounded, the aviator brought his ship to earth, damaging only its nose, before flames devoured it near Shanghai. With the toll rising daily in Sino-Japanese aerial conflict, Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek, leader of China's air forces, warned that Japanese were massing a new force of 500 warplanes for a large-scale bombing raid on Shanghai. Already many sections of that city are in ruins.

KNIGHT WITHOUT ARMOR, but with football headgear which might easily pass for that worn during days of the Round Table, Louis Mark, veteran North Carolina State center, presents a mental hazard to foes. His jaw broken in five places, his nose once, he has played nearly 60 minutes of every game.

HE SPOILED A BEAR STORY circulated before this year's football season began that Baylor would not go far toward the southwest championship. Behind the brilliant passing and strategy of 19-year-old Billy Patterson, the Bears completed the first half of their schedule undefeated and untied.

A CRUSADER against terrorism, successful in Bengal, Sir Charles Togan will be sent by Britain to assist in maintaining order in Palestine.

SOCIETY HAS A FIELD DAY at the National Horse Show which, incidentally, opened New York's gala winter social season. Attired in formal furs and fancy gowns, debutantes and dowagers alike flocked to the event. Here is Miss Betty Jane Ferguson accompanied by Irving MacPherson, Jr.

GOING TO TOWN ON AN ELK HUNT, this pack train is fording the Hoh River in northwestern Washington, returning from the wilderness with a load of slaughtered animals. Seven hundred elk were killed in the week of open season.

PUTTING TROUBLE BEHIND IT, this latest U. S. Army fighter solves the problem of allowing gunners a clear field of vision by mounting pusher-type motors and propellers behind the wings. Machine gun cockpits are located forward of engine nacelles on both sides of the fuselage. Equipped to fly in sub-stratosphere conditions, the "Airacuda" will operate at altitudes ranging to 30,000 feet.

RIGHT ON DECK to meet the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, Protocol Division Chief George T. Summerlin was designated official greeter.

COUNTING THEM BEFORE THEY HATCH, a crowd at New York's Poultry Industries Exposition watched with interest as chicks broke through their shells before their eyes. Strangest fact was that the fluffy chicks, are "test tube babies" whose "parents," 200 miles apart, never saw each other.

FLORIDA GETS READY for what may be a record winter season with new buildings to house hordes of northerners who soon will begin their annual trek to the southland. Typical of preparation in Miami is this study of a steel worker against the sky as a new building rises.

... FOR SEEKERS OF SUNSHINE who will flock to resort centers by train, boat, airliner, auto and in uncounted trailers, the balmy peninsula booms as its No. 1 attraction its miles of sandy beaches. Mrs. W. R. Frampton of New York here basks in the southern sun.

... AND SMASHING SURF draws the more athletic sun-seekers to the land of orange blossoms. Tom Blake (above), former world's champion surfboard rider, who has spent the eight years since the crash of 1929 in Hawaii, compares Miami beach with the island shores at Waikiki.

... AND THOSE WHO GO DOWN TO SEA in ships to fish will find ready larger fleets of boats to carry them to fishing banks. Here Captain V. J. Parfiro, charter boat veteran presents an odd effect as he paints mast poles and grooms his vessels for a thriving—and growing industry.

Wendt-Windrum
The marriage of Miss Margaret Wendt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil R. Windrum of Shokan, to Mr. Herman Wendt, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wendt of Elmira, took place at 4 o'clock last Sunday afternoon in the Shokan Reformed Church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. August Haus, pastor of the church. Many relatives, friends and neighbors attended the wedding. The bride wore a white silk crepe dress with a long train and a crown of white flowers. The groom wore a tuxedo. The wedding party consisted of the bride, groom, best man, maid of honor, bridesmaids and flower girls. The reception was held at the Shokan Reformed Church. The bride and groom will return from their trip to New York City on Monday morning. The bride is a graduate of the Shokan High School and is currently attending the Shokan Normal School. The groom is a graduate of the Shokan High School and is currently attending the Shokan Normal School.

Entertained at Home for Aged
On Wednesday afternoon, the members of the W.T.W. class of St. James M. E. Church entertained at the home for the aged. Mrs. Ralph Harper sang two numbers, "Bird Song" and "The Cows in the Corn" by Herbert Leslie. These were followed by several numbers by a rhythm band under the direction of Mrs. Henry Milonig, Jr., who played the piano. The band played "Song of the Owl," "American Indian (Ojibway)" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot." "Blue Danube Waltz" and three English folk tunes, "Sally Go 'Round the Moon," "The Lincolshire Bocher" and "The Jolly Miller." This last song was an encore. Miss Amy-Lou Milonig also favored with a violin solo, "Gavotte" by Hans Sitt. Conductors of the Rhythm Band were Amy-Lou Milonig, Margaret Crane and Raymond Crosswell. Other members of the band were Shirley Dickson, Ruth Platt, June Gakenheimer, Marjorie McGrath, Marilyn Post, William Lounsbury, James Davis and Henry Milonig, Jr.

Abraham Streifer to Wed
At a simple private wedding, tomorrow at the home of the groom, Miss Mary Lutsy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lutsy, of Poughkeepsie, and Abraham Streifer, of Albany, the bride will be attended by her sister, Miss Anne Lutsy. Harry Streifer will attend his brother, a reception for the immediate members of the family will follow.

Flatbush Home Bureau Meeting
At a meeting of the Flatbush Home Bureau, held at the home of Mrs. Alvin Pallen on Thursday, the members and visitors spent a very profitable day in learning how to give proper care to the hair and the art of arranging it. The leaders in this project, gave demonstrations of what should be done to insure the health of the scalp and hair and how to arrange the hair to suit the various types of faces. After the lesson the other members applied the knowledge they had gained by giving each other massage, hair shampoo and dressing the hair. A box luncheon was enjoyed at noon, followed by a business session. Those present were Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. Christine Ducker, Mrs. Edgar Halvick, Mrs. Fred Kukuk, Mrs. Howard Lewis, Mrs. Harold Osterhout, Mrs. Alvin Pallen, Mrs. Eunice Pottemer, Mrs. Harry Durling and two visitors, Mrs. Edward Heppner and Mrs. Samuel Post.

Sporo-Haslam
The marriage of Miss Alberta French Haslam, daughter of Mrs. Walter Scott Haslam and the late Mr. Haslam of Kenil, N. J., and John Marvin Spoor, also of Kenil, was solemnized Friday afternoon at the home of the bride's mother. The Rev. William M. MacInnis of the Succasunna Presbyterian Church, officiated. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Alfred Suttle, of Madison, N. J. The best man was Stanley Spoor of Westmont, Del. The bride on her maternal side is a descendant of Edward Doty of the Mayflower, and is the ninth generation of the early settlers of New Jersey who inhabited that portion of the state in the vicinity of what is now Morristown, and includes both the Dickinson and Clark families. Mr. Spoor is with the Hercules Powder Company and stationed at Port Ewen. Mr. and Mrs. Spoor will reside in Kingston upon their return from a wedding trip by motor.

Two Invitations for C. D. of A.
Members of Court Santa Maria, Catholic Daughters of America, have been invited to attend two anniversary banquets. One invitation is from Court Catherine Maria of Cairo to attend its first anniversary dinner to be held at O'Connell's Farm on Thursday evening, November 18, at 7 o'clock. Reservations for this affair must be made by November 12.

The other invitation to Court Santa Maria is from Court Rosemary of Middletown. This invitation is to attend the 16th anniversary banquet of the club to be held at Middletown on Tuesday evening, November 16. Reservations for this dinner must be made by November 10. The Grand Regent, Miss Marie Ulrich, of Flatbush avenue, will receive the reservations of the local members.

Halloween Party
Pauline and Irene Doyle of Port Ewen gave a Halloween party to their friends on Saturday evening at their home, which was prettily decorated with autumn leaves and other Halloween decorations. The guests all came in costume. Games and dancing were enjoyed. At 12 o'clock refreshments were served. Those present were Helen Churchill, Helen Maurer, Julia Mencil, and others.

Clinton Chapter Signally Honored

At the recent session of the grand chapter held at Hotel Astor, New York city, Clinton Chapter, No. 445, O.E.S., of this city, was signally honored when two of its members received offices in the grand chapter.

Miss Alice M. Scardfield, a past grand matron, was unanimously elected grand treasurer to succeed her mother who had held that office for a long term, and George B. Styles, the present patron of Clinton Chapter, was appointed associate grand sentinel of the grand chapter. Clinton Chapter will honor these two members at their meeting on November 12, when a reception for them will be held. Preceding the reception a dinner will be served at the Fair Street Reformed Church, to which any member of the Eastern Star or Masonic fraternities is invited. Reservations for this dinner must be made on or before Wednesday, November 10, with Mrs. Laura S. Winters, telephone 1113, Mrs. Georgiana S. Fraser, telephone 224, or Mrs. Rosemary Jones, telephone 3780-J.

Woman Saved Crown Jewels

When Cromwell was lord protector of England he sent an expedition to Scotland because the Scots had brought Charles II from exile in 1655 and crowned him. Cromwell also wanted the crown jewels. The wife of the pastor of the church at Kinross parish smuggled them through the British lines and her husband buried them in the walls of his church. They remained hidden until Scotland consented to a parliamentary union with England. One of the provisos of the agreement was the jewels were never to leave the country. The jewels were taken to Edinburgh castle and have been in public view since 1817, which action was taken on orders of King George IV.

Profits Tax And Gains Levy Get Special Notice

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Supporters of the new profits tax and gains levy, who have been in the forefront of the fight to shift the burden of the tax from the individual to the corporation, are expected to have a special session on the subject of the new tax.

The unsound economics of the surplus profits tax and the capital gains levy, with surmises and predictions of possible action on the question by Congress at its coming special session, are outstanding in current items of business news.

Chairman Vinson, of the House subcommittee of the ways and means committee, said regarding the undistributed profits tax law, "Some of us are thinking of re-drafting it."

Both the House and the Senate are expected to pass the new law in the next few days. The House bill provides for a 15 per cent tax on undistributed profits, and a 10 per cent tax on capital gains.

Further weakness of commodities was a disturbing factor. Wheat futures hit new lows. Stock transfers for the two hours were around 700,000 shares.

BEACON BATTLES

WINS IN HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood, Nov. 6 (AP)—The veteran referee, Lieut. Jack Kennedy, U. S. Navy, gave Milio Bettina, 171, Beacon, N. Y., an unpopular decision over the late night boxing match.

The capacity crowd of 4,400 booed their disapproval.

The Swede landed the harder punches and had Bettina in bad shape in the last three of the ten rounds. He finished strong, and had the New Yorker in a bad way at the end.

Parshia Decisions Bove In Colorless Bout; But Other Scraps Are Good

Nation's News In Brief

yesterday, charging Le Roy and Blayne Matthews, chief of police at a screen studio, forced him into their automobile October 6, drove him to the studio and kept him captive an hour while they quizzed him.

After that, the complaint alleged, they forced him to undergo a medical examination.

High Business Principles

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—The industrial practices committee of the National Association of Manufacturers today said industry was showing an enthusiastic reception of the committee's recommendations for adherence to high principles in business.

The report was designed as a yardstick of high standards for business in its dealings with customers, suppliers, competitors, employees, creditors, stockholders, local communities and government.

Railroads Need Cash

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—Executives of the nation's class one railroads told the Interstate Commerce Commission today their lines need $508,000,000 more income to meet increases in payrolls, taxes and supplies.

They asked for a flat increase of 15 per cent on freight rates and an increase in passenger fares in Eastern territory from 2 to 2 1/2 cents a mile.

Dies on Gallows

Moundsville, W. Va., Nov. 6 (AP)—Twenty-five-year-old William Brown Read of Four Corners, Md., died on the gallows last night for the torch slaying of a Charleston, W. Va., salesman he declared he had never seen.

Douman's body, skull fractured, was found last Thanksgiving Day in a flaming automobile in central West Virginia.

Roars After Record

Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah, Nov. 6 (AP)—Capt. George E. T. Eyston roared Thunderbolt, world's fastest automobile, out in the desert today for an attempt on the measured mile speed record.

"It may take a little while to get the Thunderbolt in running condition again after its repairs," Eyston said, "but I hope to get the record attempt out of the way today."

Predicts C. I. O. Victory

Manhattan, Kas., Nov. 6 (AP)—The C. I. O. "undoubtedly will conquer the American Federation of Labor," Lord Marley, deputy speaker of the British House of Lords, said in an interview here today.

Digs in for Winter

Philadelphia, Nov. 6 (AP)—A Knight of the Open Road in for $27,000 in his pocket dug in for the winter today at the home of a Philadelphia relative.

William F. Beck, 66-year-old wanderer, came here to stay with his brother-in-law, Ernest W. Sandt, after being fined $60 in North Plainfield, N. J., yesterday on charges of misrepresentation.

Narcotics Ring Smashed

Cleveland, Nov. 6 (AP)—A narcotics ring operating extensively in three states was believed crushed today with the arrests of a 66-year-old woman, her son, and her brother.

Grandpa a Problem

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 6 (AP)—Grandpa—not sunny boy—is the problem child to traffic safety authorities, says Dr. Herbert J. Stack of Trenton.

He told the New Jersey Congress of Parents and Teachers yesterday that in some communities, "more than half of pedestrian accidents are in the grandfathers class."

15-Foot Stride

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Eighty million years ago a dinosaur stepped in a peat bog in what is now Colorado, leaving for science the first accurate stride measurements of the prehistoric behemoth.

That stride, said Dr. Barnum Brown of the American Museum of Natural History, was 15 feet, indicating the animal was 35 feet tall.

The scientist cut the fossilized tracks from the roof of a coal mine near Cedaredge, Col., and brought the mbers. Each weighed four tons.

Convicted of Fraud

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Clifford H. Farman, real estate operator, was sentenced to two years in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., today by Federal Judge Robert P. Patterson. Peter M. Stenland was sentenced to serve one year and a day in the same prison.

The two men were found guilty last night by a Federal Court jury on a four-count mail fraud and conspiracy indictment. They were charged with having defrauded through false representation and promises more than 300 investors in lots and "interests in lots" in the Walbrook section of Englewood, N. J., during 1931 and 1932.

Cheerful thought: We couldn't get into a new depression before we're out of the last one.

Failing to come up to advance notices, heralding him as the New Jersey state featherweight champion, Frankie Bove of Newark fought a sluggish battle against Frankie Parshia of New York, Friday night, and thus the main bout surrendered the limelight to the semi-final between Johnny Morrow, 125 pound New York Golden Glover, and Morris Parker, Newash flash.

The semi-windup was packed, with action from going to going, and had the fans, who were not too numerous last night, cheering all the way. Morrow won the decision, piling up points towards the latter part of the skirmish.

Other bouts on the card, especially the one between Highland's ace, Joe Tanillo, and Al Mercurio of Newark, gave the customers plenty of good battling.

Pete Caprotti, brother of Johnny, "Kid Chappie" Caprotti, made his debut in impressive style, decisioning Billy Pender of Newburgh.

Little Frankie Parshia, who distinguished himself by bumping off Mario Severino a week ago, was unable to show as much class against Bove, hailed as the second Tony Canzoneri, because the Newark leather pusher seemed none too willing.

Parshia concentrated on Bove's midsection, which looked a bit full for a conditioned scrapper. He forced the issue all the way, and had the Jerseyite pretty well played out at the finish.

Bove seemed none too willing to mix it, and it was his fault that the scrap did not turn out to be as thrilling as Parshia's duel with Severino. "I don't like to box a southpaw," Bove commented after the match with George Gainford's left-handed featherweight.

What the main attraction lacked, the second made up for in every phase of fighting. Morrow and Parker both opened up at the first gong. Parker took the lead at the outset, but Morrow caught up to him and went on pressing the issue to win. Lefts to the stomach, and hard right crosses had Parker in a bad way several times.

Red Van Alstyne, 159, of Ravenna, came out from Billy Ryan's, 157, Newark near, who delivered a low left to the groin and weakened him so that he was unable to continue after the rest period allowed.

Joe Tanillo hammered away at Al Mercurio for two rounds putting up a colorful battle and was in the lead until the Newark slugger scored up in the third frame and stayed in the van until the last gong.

Mercurio hit Tanillo with an over-hand right as the fifth round waned, and injured the Highland Hurricane's nose so that he may have to lay off for a week or two. The weights were Mercurio, 128, Tanillo, 130.

Preliminary Results

Jerry "Stonewall" Jackson, 186, Kingston, knocked out Farmer Lane, 183, Windham, in 1:36 of the first round with a right to the jaw.

Pete Caprotti, 139, Kingston, decisioned Billy Pender, 140, Newburgh, three rounds.

Norman Green, 150, New York, outpointed Frankie Fabbri, 151, Kingston, three rounds.

Officials: Referee, Bill Singer; judges, Jack Finerty and R. B. Blakeslee; timer, Morton Finch; announcer, Sam Riber.

Good Luck 'n' Everything

President John J. O'Brien came to the first opening night of the American Basketball League in Kingston Wednesday, and shook the hand of Frank "Pop" Morgenweck in the office at the Municipal Auditorium, wishing him luck before the game between the Colonials and Jersey Reds.

The American League press saw plenty in that bustling battle between the Morgenweckers and Jersey's Gas House Gang, won by the latter, 29-26, as shown by the above "shot" of the hand to hand combat between Captain Carlo Husta of Kingston and Moa Frankel.

Koenig President Of Winter Sports Club at Wiltwyck

At the meeting, Friday, of the newly organized Wiltwyck Winter Sports Club, Joseph Koenig, supervisor-elect of the Ninth ward, was chosen president of the body. Other officers elected were Albert Katz, vice-president, and Miss Mary Guido, financial secretary.

Besides the election, the club held a lengthy discussion on winter sports program, led by Ray Garrahan, who acted as chairman of the meeting.

The program, it is planned, will include tobogganing, and skating, and maybe skating as soon as further discussion takes place on construction of a rink. Flood lights will be furnished for night participation in the sports mania.

The roster for members is open, and it is expected that the quota of 100 will have been filled presently.

President Koenig, Harold Styles, and Frank Shink, president of the Wiltwyck Golf Club, reviewed the idea of forming the winter sports organization, and it is their hope to make Wiltwyck Club one of the most popular sports centers in Ulster county.

Greenleaf Seeks To Regain Record

Philadelphia, Nov. 6 (AP)—Ralph Greenleaf, of New York, today sought to regain the high run record in the world's pocket billiard championship tourney as well as to challenge his sixth straight victory.

Greenleaf's high run of 96, made October 25, last, until last night when Willie Maseoni, of Philadelphia, rattled off a string of 98 in defeating Charles Scarsdale, of Boston.

Greenleaf, undefeated, will meet Jimmy Caras, of Wilmington, Del., tonight in the last of the day's four matches.

7 Blue Ribbons For Kansas Today

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Mrs. Louisa Long Combs of Kansas City, Mo., has been sending horses to the national horse show off and on for nearly 30 years but seldom has she enjoyed better success than at the current equine blue-blood exhibition in Madison Square Garden.

With five days still to go, the matronly mid-western sports-woman leads the field with seven blue ribbons and appears well on the way to carrying off the honors won by Frances Dodge of Rochester, Mich., last year. Only three times have her fine harness horses failed to win and then they finished in the money.

The surprise last night was the victory turned in by the Canadian army team, rated an outsider at the start of the international military competition. The Canadians came from second place to take the three-night battle for the low score trophy by a margin of one point over the United States. The latter had led through the first two tests. The Belgians finished third, the Irish fourth and the Netherlands last.

Today's military competition brought the

Motion to Confirm Award Made to Schirick on Friday

A motion to confirm an award made in arbitration was made to Justice Harry E. Schirick at special term of supreme court Friday in the matter of Rose Steinhorn and Moses Steinhorn against Ellenville Lumber Company, Inc. John Bonomi appeared for the Steinhorns and Lawrence Levine appeared for the lumber company. Mr. Levine moved for a confirmation of the award.

The defendant originally sought to recover some $4,000 for materials. In the dispute which followed Joseph Koopman was appointed arbitrator and heard the matter. As a result of the action plaintiffs were assessed a certain sum, less than originally claimed, and at the present time all but two payments have been made. There are still two payments, covered by notes, which become due on August 1, 1938, and August 1, 1939.

In moving for a confirmation of the award made in arbitration, Mr. Bonomi did not oppose the confirming of the award of the arbitrator but did object to having judgment entered against the plaintiffs for the amount of the award at these sums were not yet due and did not become due until some future time and that if judgment was entered now execution might be taken. He said that to have judgments entered against the Steinhorn property now at a date prior to the date when the two payments were due would work hardships against the plaintiffs. He said no such ten against the property should be on record when the money was not due for the property.

"Entry of such judgment would be premature," said Mr. Bonomi. "Judgment should not be entered against this property for money due on these notes which are now held by the arbitrator and which do not become due for months," he told the court.

Mr. Levine argued that confirmation of the arbitration agreement should be made by the court and he held that to enter judgment now was in accordance with the statute and a matter of course.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jensen, who are to sail soon for a visit to Europe, were given a farewell party by a number of their friends on Tuesday night.

The Fire Department held a party in their rooms on Friday night. Prizes were given and refreshments served.

Mrs. Elizabeth Brown entertained Mrs. Fred Smith on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli DuBois were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry DuBois at Catskill.

Mrs. Claude Alsford, who has been spending several days with relatives on Long Island and in New York city, returned home this week.

Mrs. Catherine Schoonmaker has returned from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Eugene Troutwell, and family in New York city.
